What do these symbols mean?

Eagles are symbols of strength in many countries. In the United States, the eagle also stands for freedom. Shields are objects and symbols of protection. The Union Shield also symbolizes the United States. It has 13 stripes to represent the first 13 states. The blue bar at the top that holds the stripes together symbolizes Congress.
1. Glue the ends of two popsicle sticks together to make one long piece. Let dry.

2. Fold the brown paper in half widthwise (like a book). Cut along the crease line. Use one piece for the wings and the other for the tail.

3. For the wings: fold your brown half sheet widthwise once more. Draw (on only one side of paper) a curved line from the crease. Then, add a wavy line back to the crease. Next cut out the shape while keeping the paper folded. When you open the paper you’ll have both wings!

4. For the tail: draw a U shape from the top of the paper. Add feathers from the bottom of the U shape. Then cut.

5. Take your white paper and cut in half widthwise. Save one half for a different project. Take the other half of the white paper and cut widthwise one more time.

6. For the head: Draw an upside-down U shape on one of the small white pieces of paper. Add a wavy line to close the upside-down U shape. Add a beak. Then cut.

7. For the Union Shield: Take the other small piece of white paper and fold in half widthwise one more time. Draw two connecting curved lines (on only one side of paper). Then cut the shape while keeping the paper folded.

8. Now it is time to decorate! Add a face and feathers for the eagle. For the Union Shield, draw a horizontal line close to the top and color in blue. Then, draw 13 white and red alternatting stripes under the blue top.

9. Finally, glue all pieces to your popsicle sticks. Begin with the wings in the middle, head and tail next. And finally, the shield on top of the center of your eagle!
